

Annual Summer Barbeque 2024

by Ormond Smith

The sun shone out of a lightly clouded sky, the birds twittered contentedly in the trees around the spacious garden and the wine flowed as members and guests mingled on the patio at the home of Connetable Nicol and Beverley for the annual Summer Barbeque/Picnic. A welcoming glass of bubbly greeted the attendees on arrival, thereafter it was a case of “do your own thing and get on with it” as the barbeque was fired up and budding Gordon Ramseys perfected (!?!) their culinary skills while others had opted for a less exacting picnic style repast. Wines were shared and discussed and the conversation flowed as the attendees mingled and whiled away the afternoon. Apart from the firing up of the BBQ itself, these annual summer events are very much DIY – a successful format perfected over the years. Now, can we lay on a perfect weather for next year?
